

Publicerad 2010-09-18 12:21 av Dennis Axelsson

Thinking in the rain

Success

This morning the rain is falling.

You thought this could be the day for the money to start rolling.

But never, never has my mood been so not on going.

Guilty or not there is things that never could be done differntly

Even if I did it again, even if I did it slowly.

This could end up with a major fuck up

But never the less, should one not give up

Just so that you know I will fight, you will see

If you want to pick a fight, pick it with me

Me and I wont back down, wont give up, nothing

You'll see, the bankaccount will someday say, cashing

I will pay you the things I should

Not the things you think I would

Might even be funny money, but nerver the less

I think I am the one walking out of this in success

---

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Dennis Axelsson med Poeter.se id #34346 innehar upphovsrätten