Tears in my heart

Are you frightened by the tears in my heart?

Do not be afraid, for they are tears of joy.
It is all your fault you know, you put them there. I am not entirely sure I will let you take them back. As a matter of fact, I think I will keep them. So know this, my heart is crying, and it is all your fault.

Do not ask me how you did that. Because I do not know. Do you know? If you know how that happened, please tell me, because I really want to know.

They say it takes but a smile, and I did not believe them. They say it takes but a moment, and I did not believe them. They say you can move mountains with just one breath, and I did not believe them.

I have never been more happy to be wrong.
