If I told you the truth

would you listen

if tears ran from my mind to make its way through the shell would you sweep it with your hand if you saw my naked body again, would you be willing to embrace the emotions within

if the scars were observed before would you cover them
with your presence now

if my soul manifested
in front of you

would you stand

or would you choose ~~to walk your way~~
