All that was left

There is no hint of you left in the space of my existence,
You took it all away,
In a heartbeat,
In the flicker of a moment,
My world shrunk,
Til all that was left,
Was me.

The sugar in my heart got no taste of you left,
It faded away,
As the dark eats the light,
And when the shadows got long,
You where gone,
And all that was left,
Was me,

The rythm of my heart has fallen out of pace,
Beating on its own,
Loneley thumps,
Marking your footsteps as you walk away,
Beating for the rest,
And all that was left,
Was me.
