About being weird.

WEIRDO.

By Julia Engström.

I'm a weirdo for sure.

But it doesn't bother me anymore.

I wear my weirdness as a beautiful dress.

Leaving behind all my sadness and stress.

I don't care what people are thinking.

I'm a ship that is far from sinking.

I may not always say the right things.

But I fly with strong wings.

Too much, too fast, the say.

But hey!

I'm just me.

The only one I could ever be.

Shining like a rainbow.

With a very special glow.
