We'll See Eternity Together

Close your eyes and take a deep breath

Do you notice that?

That exquisite scent tickling your senses?

It's happiness.

Close your eyes

Just

Like

That

And I will take you to realities

You've never been to before

If only you trust me

Trust me

Lie down upon the grass and smile with me

The lush blades whisper of summers past

And forgotten times.

Do you see that?

The smooth, velvet blood

As I bleed myself dry for you

Anything for you

Barely spoken

But heard nonetheless

Anything, everything

Take my hand, entwine our fingers

I will count the petals with you

Loves me, loves me not

(And the stars too, never forget the stars)

We'll gaze into the telescope

Look beyond the beach and the sea

And the faint outlines of the isles

And we'll see eternity

Together

You and I

Will pluck the last velveteen petal

And breathe

Loves me
