Who can

Let me tell you a story of a beautiful stranger a person I never have seen someone with a voice without anger, and a distance to life and it's real

A stranger that walked right behind me, that never let me out of sight

Someone with a brave sense for feelings that sang beautiful songs at night

A something with powers of flying and that watched it all from above

~~the someone that gave me a challenge, a challenge to find my one love~~
