"Small changes"

If you try to change the world

start simple

go,

go and take a look at the mirror

what is that shape

on the other side of the glass

looking back at you?

look at the one

that many have said

is you,

your reflection.

they have seen

nothing yet

you are more than

this flesh and bones

if you manage to look beyond that.

If you want to make a change

start there,

look at the mirror

and smile

at the one

looking back

at you...
